Is your fixed rate loan expiring this year?

Our Client

This couple have a $750,000 home loan on a fixed interest rate of 2.5%.

Their loan was expiring in March 2023 and their current bank wrote to them advising the variable rate on their loan would be 6.3% - a jump of nearly 4%.

The Challenge

This would take their repayments from $2,791 a month to $4,642 a month.

They approached us to refinance their loan to the best market rate and increase the loan amount to consolidate other debts and renovate.

Fresh Solutions

Fresh Finance was able to increase their limit and refinance them with a rate 1.56% lower than what their bank was offering.

That equates to a saving of $748 a month and $8,800 a year.
